

If you're a qualified Idaho homeowner, you might be eligible for the Property Tax Reduction program, also known as the Circuit Breaker program.

Based on your income for 2024, the program could reduce property taxes on your home and up to one acre of land by as much as $1,500.

Who qualifies

You might qualify for a property tax reduction if all of these are true:

- You're an Idaho resident.
- You own and occupy your home or mobile home, and the value doesn't exceed a limit set by law that will be calculated in June 2025.
- Your total 2024 income, after deducting medical expenses, was $37,810 or less.
- You're any of the following as of January 1, 2025:
 - 65 or older
 - Former POW or hostage
 - Motherless or fatherless child under 18
 - Blind
 - Widow(er)
 - Disabled as recognized by the Social Security Administration, Railroad Retirement Board, Federal Civil Service, Veterans Affairs, or a public employment retirement system not covered by these agencies

Note: Property Tax Reduction benefits won't reduce solid waste, irrigation, or other fees charged by government entities.

How to apply

You can get the application through your county assessor's office or the Idaho State Tax Commission website at tax.idaho.gov/property.

The Tax Commission administers the program, but you apply through your county assessor's office.

They'll help you fill out the application. Apply from January 1 through April 15, 2025.

When you file your application, you must provide proof of:

- Income
- Payment of medical and funeral expenses
- Requirements (age over 65, blind, VA disability, etc.)
- Home ownership

If you don't yet have all of your income information, complete as much of the application as you can, and file it by the deadline. If your application is approved, your property tax reduction will appear on your December 2025 tax bill.

Applicants must apply every year.

Additional Option – Property Tax Deferral Program

The Property Tax Deferral Program offers certain qualified individuals a way to defer property taxes on their home and up to one acre of land. A qualified applicant might qualify separately for this program or use this program along with the Property Tax Reduction Program to receive additional property tax assistance.

Deferred taxes and interest must be repaid to the state of Idaho when ownership of the property changes or the property no longer qualifies for the Homeowner's Exemption. Contact your county assessor for additional program information and an application.
